WALL PILATES MOVES

TO GET YOU TONED
FOR SUMMER BY SELECT LIFE STAFF

DISCOVER THE BENEFITS OF WALL PILATES.

Wall Pilates is taking the fitness world by storm and for good reason. This effective low-impact workout is accessible for beginners as well as challenging for experts. Get toned on the go without any equipment, all you need is a wall to achieve results. Follow along for simple wall Pilates moves you can do from the comfort of your own home.

ROLL DOWNS » The simple roll down is a great way to prime the spine to wake up and get ready to work. Start by standing with your back to the wall and roll down from the crown of the head all the way down to touch the toes. Do this exercise at the beginning of your workout as a warmup or at the end as a nice relaxing cool down exercise.

WALL SIT » A wall sit is a straightforward movement perfect for firing up the glutes. Simply stand facing away from the wall and sit down with your knees at a 90-degree angle and your back resting on the wall. Similar to taking a seat in a chair while your arms and upper body remain relaxed. Hold this position for thirty seconds and repeat for optimal results.

GLUTE BRIDGES » Another wall Pilates move meant to shape the buns and activate the hamstrings. Start by planting your feet hip-width distance apart up on the wall. Then lift the hips up and squeeze the backside before lowering down.

LEG LIFTS » Build a perky bum using a wall for leg lifts. Stand to face the wall and push both palms into the wall while gazing down at the floor. Lift the leg up and behind while focusing on squeezing the glute tight. Do three sets of ten on each leg.

WALL PUSHUPS » Sculpt long lean arm muscles with wall pushups. Press your hands into the wall at about shoulder-width apart and bend your chest toward the wall keeping the elbows at a 45-degree angle, then push up away from the wall. Aim for three sets of ten for a challenging arm workout.

WALL 100'S » Pilates classes always include the challenging hundreds section sure to leave your abs on fire. You can achieve this same core burnout using a wall at home. Place your feet on the wall and lift your arms straight out by your sides while lifting your head neck and shoulders up off the ground. Pump your arms up and down while inhaling for five and then exhaling for five totaling up to ten rounds.

SIDE KICK » Build shapely hips and a flat stomach with side kicks. Lie down on your side and position yourself diagonally as you lean into the wall for support. Lift your leg while keeping your hips stacked over one another and your core engaged. Complete three sets of ten on both sides.

WALL LUNGES » Tone your inner thighs and quads with wall assisted lunges. Stand with your side facing the wall and keep your hand on the wall while stepping your inner leg back to do a lunge. Do this exercise ten times on each side for slender legs ready for summer.

LEG CIRCLES » Wall assisted leg circles strengthen the hip flexors and shape the quads. Stand with your back and shoulders against the wall and lift your leg to front and draw small, controlled circles with a pointed toe. Try to complete three sets of five on each leg.

10

WALL BICYCLE CRUNCHES » Bicycle crunches target the core for a flat stomach while also strengthening the oblique muscles to help cinch in the waist. To perform a wall bicycle crunch, lie on your back and place your feet up onto the wall. Next aim to touch the opposite elbow to opposite knee while crunching and engaging the abs. Aim for three sets of fifteen with this exercise.

BRANDON SOVERALL

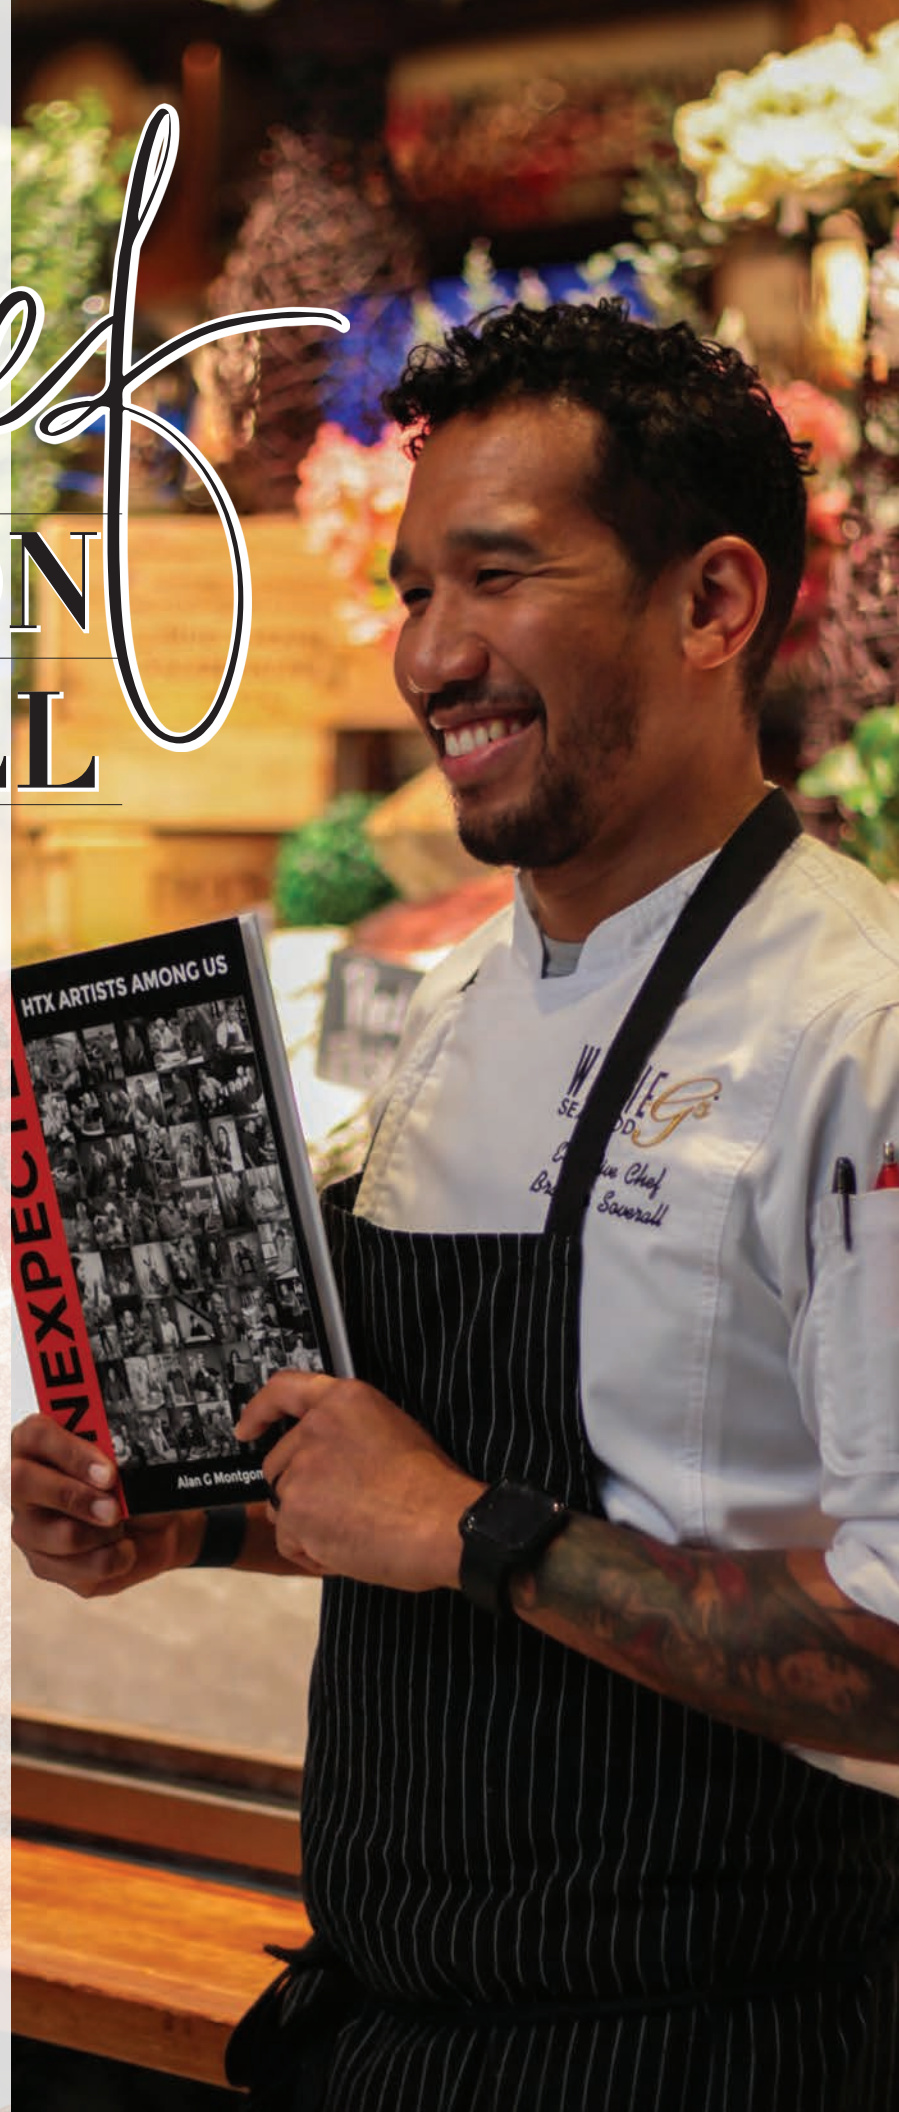

BY COURTNEY GOODSON

EARLY LIFE

In the culinary world, there are those who cook, and then there are those who orchestrate masterpieces. Chef Brandon Soverall falls squarely into the latter category, seamlessly blending his Trinidadian heritage, love for science, and passion for the arts into every dish he creates.

Born in Trinidad and Tobago to a father who was an engineer and a mother who was an artist, Chef Brandon's upbringing was steeped in a rich tapestry of creativity and innovation. Surrounded by a family of artistic souls, including clothing designers and metal fabricators, it was his aunt's restaurant where his culinary journey truly began. Fond memories of sitting on the stairs, watching her craft daily menus, ignited a spark within him that would shape his future.

Initially drawn to follow in his father's footsteps towards a career in science and engineering, Chef Brandon soon discovered his true calling lay elsewhere. Intrigued by the intricate science behind cooking and the endless possibilities of culinary arts, he realized that his passions were intricately intertwined. Armed with this revelation, he pursued a degree in culinary arts, craving to delve deeper into the fusion of science and artistry that defines the culinary world.

JOURNEY TO HOUSTON

His thirst for knowledge and adventure led him on a globetrotting journey, from the vibrant streets of New Orleans to the bustling kitchens of New York City, and even across the Atlantic to Germany and beyond. Each stop enriched his culinary repertoire, broadening his palate and deepening his understanding of diverse cuisines.

Yet, it was a twist of fate that ultimately brought Chef Brandon to his current home in Houston. Winning the US green card lottery, he found himself uprooted from New York by Hurricane Sandy, seeking refuge with a dear friend in Texas. What began as a temporary stay on a friend's futon soon blossomed into a permanent residency, as Chef Brandon embraced Houston as his new culinary playground.

TODAY

Today, Chef Brandon Soverall stands at the helm of culinary innovation, effortlessly blending his engineering background with his artistic flair to create culinary masterpieces that tantalize the senses and ignite the imagination. With each dish, he invites diners on a journey that celebrates the fusion of science and artistry, paying homage to his Trinidadian roots while embracing the diverse flavors of the world.

In the kitchen of Chef Brandon Soverall, culinary magic unfolds — a testament to the power of passion, creativity, and the seamless fusion of engineering and artistry.

written by
Courtney Goodson

The Special Tradition

Each year, Cynthia and her daughter have a tradition they hold dear to their hearts. They kick off their day by the poolside in their backyard, savoring mimosas and basking in the warmth of the sun. It's a serene moment, made even more special as they watch Cynthia's grandchildren, Maddison and Brayden, splash and play in the pool.

As the day unfolds, Cynthia's son Ben and son-in-law Beau take charge of brunch, grilling up delicious delights outdoors. It's a feast for the senses and a testament to the joy of family coming together.

But the highlight of their celebration is always the special dining experience they share at a chosen restaurant, be it in the vibrant streets of San Francisco, the quaint charm of Sausalito, or the picturesque landscapes of Sonoma and Napa Valley. These culinary adventures are not just about the food; they're about celebrating each other and the wonderful families they've built. Memories captured in photographs adorn their walls, each snapshot a testament to the love and laughter they share. From Sebastian Winery in Sonoma to downtown Sausalito, and from Napa Valley vineyards to the heart of San Francisco, these moments frozen in time remind them of the joy of togetherness.

Whether it's a candid shot of Cynthia's daughter Kate, Maddison, and herself savoring the anticipation of dinner, or the laughter shared over ice cream cones after a delightful meal, each photograph holds a story of its own.

Q & A

with Houston Rockets Center

Alperen Sengun

PHOTOGRAPHY
Alex Bierens de Haan

Being in Houston for nearly three years, what have you enjoyed about the city?

“I enjoy how calm it is. It doesn’t feel too crowded and it feels like the perfect size. The food here is great too. They have some really good Turkish restaurants and some nice steakhouses that I enjoy.”

What lessons have you learned since entering the NBA?

“Just to be positive all the time. We have a lot of games and you will have wins and you will have losses. No matter what, you need to play at the same level at all times. It is a long season and it’s important to remain positive.”

How would you describe your playing style?

“I have always been an old-school type of player. I learned how to play basketball when I was a kid, and I was doing workouts every day. I learned how to use my skills and just have an old-school style.”

How would you say you have improved since entering the NBA and where are you still working on improving?

“Since I came into the league, I think I have improved my defense a lot. I have learned how to defend in different ways and how to guard other players. I’ve also gotten a lot better at my mid-range jumpers. I’m still working on becoming a better three-point shooter and will continue to work on that part of my game.”

What has been your most memorable NBA game at this point in your career?

“When we beat New Orleans [106-104 in December]. Jabari [Smith Jr.] and I both made huge shots near the end of the game. It was an intense game and we had to make a comeback at the end. That was really fun.”

Your gameday style has gotten lots of positive attention. How did you get into fashion and how do you pick out your game day outfits?

“When I came into the NBA, I started thinking about it. When I lived in Turkey, I wasn’t like that at all. When I came here, I would just find clothes, try new things and think about what went well together. It’s been fun.”

What has the Rockets fanbase meant to you?

“Rockets fans are amazing. They always give us love. They do it at games and then when I see them out, a lot of fans will say hello. They are all over.”

What advice would you give any foreign players that are making the transition to the NBA?

“Play for the team, don’t play for yourself. When you do that, you will have success and everything will work out.”

IRON

INSIDE THE SUCCESS OF
IRON CHEF 2023 COMPETITION

CHEF

BY: SELECT LIFE STAFF

The 16th Annual Landry's Iron Chef Competition unfolded with flair and finesse at The Galveston Island Convention Center at The San Luis on October 31 and November 1. Boasting a fusion of talent, innovation, and mentorship, this year's event showcased Landry's commitment to culinary excellence.

THE COMPETITION:

Thirty of Landry's top chefs, representing diverse concepts nationwide, engaged in a fierce battle for the prestigious titles of best new dish and yearlong bragging rights. Unlike traditional culinary showdowns, Iron Chef 2023 fostered an atmosphere of camaraderie and collaboration, with no roaring crowds or celebrity judges. Instead, esteemed food writers, an executive panel, and Landry's most innovative chefs served as the discerning arbiters of culinary prowess.

JR. CHEF SHOWDOWN:

An integral facet of Iron Chef 2023 was the electrifying Jr. Chef Showdown, where exceptional local high school culinary students joined forces with Landry's executive chefs. This mentorship program, initiated by Landry's in 2015, pairs budding talents with seasoned professionals, imparting invaluable skills and insights. The competitive component, introduced in 2016, tested students' creativity in a thrilling showcase of culinary aptitude.

EXECUTIVE JUDGING PANEL:

Leading the charge were luminaries of the culinary world, including Scott Marshall, Karim Tamir, Terry Turney, Shah Ghani, Tim Whitlock, Jenny Scharbrough, Charles Mayer, and Kathy Ruiz. Each bringing a wealth of experience and expertise, these esteemed judges assessed not only culinary mastery but also the crucial elements of kitchen operation, plate photography, and marketability.

CULINARY INSIGHTS:

Iron Chef 2023 offered attendees a behind-the-scenes glimpse into the makings of a great chef through a guided tour of five immersive stations. From culinary techniques to managerial acumen, participants gained valuable insights, underscoring Landry's commitment to nurturing culinary talent and innovation.
